Israel Move Snubbed

PARIS (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir says her government proposed secret negotiations to Egypt two weeks ago, but never received an answer.

In an interview published Sunday in the French newsmagazine L'Express, Mrs. Meir was asked if she thought she had let any chances for peace slip by.

"If I thought I had let even the smallest chance for peace get away, I could not in all conscience today hold the post of premier," she replied. "We've done everything. Do you hear me? Everything. They tell for example that President Gamal Abdel Nasser cannot accept public negotiation. Well, we've proposed secret conversations five, ten, 20 times and again a few weeks ago. We never got the slightest response."

Judge Wants Better Jail

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge Steel Hays has urged improving conditions at the Pulaski County Jail.

In a letter to County Judge H. Frank Mackey, Hays said he found conditions at the jail not consistent with reasonable standards of treatment of people charged with violations of the law.

Hays said he toured the jail two weeks ago and said the jail needed relief from the oppressive heat during the summer.

Mackey said Hays' letter was delivered Friday.

Hays said in the letter that the persons in jail were "entitled to certain standards of treatment."

Hays was appointed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller after the special session of the legislature created the position this year.

Patman then listed "assets" of the Penn Central including "some of the most profitable land in New York City—the Waldorf Astoria, the Roosevelt Hotel, the Biltmore Hotel, and choice Park Avenue real estate. It owns amusement parks and properties all over the nation and owns and control three holding companies and literally hundreds of companies."

"In my opinion," Patman said, "Penn Central ought to be required to use these assets before it runs to the government asking for welfare."

"When a huge corporation like this succeeds in bleeding the U. S. Treasury, it means that good constructive local development projects—worthy of Federal support—can't get money."

Patman said he resents seeing large corporations "turn the government upside down in a boondoggling scheme when local communities, school districts, water districts and others have to go without funds."

"The administration," Patman said, "went into a frenzy of emergency meetings to help Penn Central. Everyone became involved and millions of dollars of government time and money were spent trying to put together a welfare package for this $7 billion railroad."

The congressman did not limit his comments to the Penn Central Railroad, but did praise "what I call the Great Gulf Southwest and Texarkana."

"We have not yet reached, nor even approached the maximum of our potential," he said, "and we do have the benefit of learning from the mistakes of those two leading states—California and New York."

"The great size and distance of the Gulf Southwest have only one built-in handicap—transportation. This is the core of this meeting today—we are working on the problem of better transporation and we are making good progress."

"This airport is an outstanding example of good federal-local cooperation—a project that can be justified from any point of view," Patman said.

Other dignitaries on the speakers platform included Congressmen David Pryor and John Paul Hammerschmidt of Arkansas; Texarkana, Ark., Mayor J. N. Shoptaw; Texarkana, Tex., City Councilman Larry Patterson; Lone Star Commander Col. Eugene De Ambrosio; Chamber of Commerce President James Morriss; Chamber of Commerce Manager L. E. Gilliland; John Stroud of the Airport Authority, and several representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration, including FAA Southwest Regional Director Henry L. Newman.

Newman, commenting on the new airport facilities, was interrupted when a large aircraft "revised" its engines prior to taking off. "A quiet airport is not a good one," he quipped.

In addition to a fly-by by four Air National Guard jets from Fort Smith, the crowd viewed a parachuting exhibition by seven members of a sky-diving club.

Other members of the club remained on the ground and spread a target between two airport runways, but the jumpers missed the target by more than a mile, a spokesman for the club said.

Marion Cole and Carl L. Craft of Shreveport, La., provided an aerobatics show with two one-seater, biplanes and a cub-type aircraft.

Auto Hits Poles; Driver Is Killed

SHEARERVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Carl L. Myers, 35, of Memphis, was killed Sunday in a one-car accident on U. S. 70 about three miles west of here.

State Police said a car driven by Myers ran off the road, struck a mailbox and then crashed into two utility poles.

U.S. SUPREME COURT GRANTS MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY NEW FREEDOM
This freedom can only be abused and endangered by ugliness and bad taste. The erotic encounters between men and women in this picture are among the most exquisitely beautiful scenes ever recorded by the motion picture camera. Instead of exploiting carnality, they elevate it to the realm of the spiritual. Here is a picture that will stop here . . . it is to probe deeper. Therefore this is a motion picture for mature audiences with adult minds who desire to face relationships inside and out of marriage as it really is, as it should be.
